Good day,

What I am seeing from this school board is very concerning. The role of a school board is to govern responsibly and ensure academic excellence - not to act as a platform for personal ideologies. What I'm seeing is a prioritization of political messaging. Boards are fiduciaries of public trust, not activists. When they blur that line, they risk undermining both credibility and effectiveness. I've served on many boards, and I've never seen this level of deviation from basic responsibilities.

We must establish and enforce standards of conduct.
